Your five-path profile

A one-page overview of your scores and selected matching rules.

Advocacy and public causes	54.29
Authored and symbolic production	0.00
Organized collective realization	43.10
Technology and product implementation	86.90
Embodied competitive performance	0.00

The scores compare matching rule families with the 420-person development reference. They are not ability scores or success probabilities. The inner pentagon is zero; the outer is 100.

How to read the result

Interpretations are proposed readings of chart configurations, not a diagnosis of personality or ability. A shared rule does not imply the same life history or chart coordinates.

The paid results screen retains all eligible paths, full conditions, reference activities and source limitations. Further research will examine under-studied rules and different settings.

Some detected families do not yet have a published detailed interpretation; the five scores are unchanged.

Historical v7 reported associations in the same 420 people used to develop the rules. Its significance values require independent assessment. The later corrected portable fixed-rule evaluation met the criterion for 2/5 functions (authored work and organized realization); advocacy and technology did not, and embodied competition was not estimable. Its representation and test family differ from v7, and independent recalculation remains outstanding. Three completed limited person-out tests were non-positive. Individual rules, abilities and personal prediction remain unvalidated; reference people do not validate a rule.
